Land based logistics companies run their business mainly through different types load carrying vehicles, trucks etc. As the competition becomes stiffer, each and every penny has to be looked after. It is a high wear and tear business and a business with many points of leakage. So, the management has to keep a hawk's eye on all such leakage points, take care of preventive maintenance, fuel efficiency, spare parts management and other overheads. While doing all this, it also needs to have an efficient sales management system to please the customer.
